How you can contribute

- Research and Risk-to-Resilience mapping
- Facilitation of practical, non-clinical discussions
- Educational content and resources
- Appropriate support and referral pathways
- Programme design and evaluation
- Delivery partnership: venues, events, accessibility, technology

Expertise we look for

- Psychologists, counsellors and registered mental health professionals
- Coaches and facilitators
- Occupational health and safety professionals
- Legal, financial-wellbeing and business-continuity specialists
- Sector specialists in healthcare, agriculture, education and more

Professional boundaries and safeguarding

- Work within your professional scope and registration

- Know local crisis and referral services before each session
- Explain confidentiality rules and their limits at the start
- Keep conversations educational, not therapy or clinical assessment
- Report concerns privately, never in business reporting
- The participating business does not direct what you say

How registrations are reviewed

1. Register your expertise and availability
2. Review of credentials and registration
3. Conversation about fit and scope
4. Matching to a specific engagement
5. Agreement of scope, expectations and any fees

Registering does not guarantee work, paid engagements or WE Alliance membership.
